

Hi Dr.Poling,

I just finished reading your book as I was physically unable to put it down! Thank you!

This subject is personal for me as well and I wanted to say thank you for sharing your journey with the world and most importantly thank you for all the hard work, all the research , and all the time you dedicated to show all of us how to help our kids who suffer in silence. This book was exactly what I had been looking for the past couple of years. I have read other books on the subject but this was something else. You went through what I had gone through and reading your book was as if you were reading my mind!!!

I have to add that your book made me cry both from happiness (finally there is someone who truly understands!) and from sadness (triggered some of the memories I had trying to explain to professionals what we were going through). I will cherish this resource you have provided.

My mission is to raise awareness both in Canada as well as my home country.

Thank you profoundly!
